

Abacus and Playport Announce Reseller Partnership

Delivering mobile digital lottery solutions through existing Point-of-Sale Systems

Dallas, Texas and London, United Kingdom – April 20, 2021 - Abacus Solutions International Group (ABACUS), a global technology provider connecting lottery systems with both existing and new lottery retailers and Playport Gaming Systems (PGS), a mobile digital instant win software platform provider, announced a new partnership designed to supply lotteries and lottery retailers a digital game purchase and win redemption solution that seamlessly integrates with their existing point-of sale systems. Abacus will act as an authorized distributor and reseller of Playport's platform

“We are excited to expand our relationship with Abacus and provide another solution to their Lottery Everywhere Abacus Digital portfolio,” said Marina Bogard CEO, Playport. “The Abacus solution will allow for consumers to utilize their smartphone to purchase Powerball, Mega Millions and Instant Win games through the lottery retailers enabled registers. This past year due to COVID, there has been increased consumer demand for digital solutions. Through our partnership, Abacus will deliver a digital benefit to lotteries, retailers and consumers.”

“This partnership with Playport is in line with Abacus’ vision of innovating and delivering solutions to lotteries and lottery retailers worldwide that not only improve sales and profit, but also provide players with new ways to purchase and play their favorite lottery games.” said Simon Butler, CEO Abacus. “We believe the future of lottery lies in the integration of both the lottery and retailer systems to enable frictionless purchase and gameplay everywhere lottery is sold and we have the full breadth of products to deliver the future today.”
